PUBLICATION	PAGE	HEADLINE &amp; BRIEF
Business Daily	23	ATS hopes for KenGen bond thrown into doubt The report cites that the Capital Markets Authority has declined to approve the automated trading of bonds at the stock market. The report further states that the authority has instead sent letters to the Central Depository and Settlement Corporation and the NSE are demanding that they address some issues before being allowed to activate the Automated System.
Daily Nation	18-19	Let power flow across borders and Africa will no longer be a dark continent The feature report indicates that Africa produces a mere four percent of the world's electricity while its production capacity is unacceptable under-utilized. There are recommendations that pooling resources together and linking national grids could see self-sufficient Africa exporting electricity to the Middle East.
